BLANTON SCORES "PETTY GRAFT" IN NATION'S CONGRESS

Representative From Abilene Tells Wilbarger Voters That "Stationery Account" Supplies Everything From Poker Chips To Hand Bags—Would Wipe Out Political Ring.

Before a large audience in the district court room here Friday night, Congressman Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene severely criticized and vigorously denounced the "petty graft" which he claimed was being engaged in by Congressmen at Washington. Mr. Blanton defended his record in Congress and asserted that several attempts had been made on the floor of the House to discredit and disgrace him before the American people. The speaker explained further how an attempt had been made to injure his sister's candidacy in this district.

Outbursts of applause voicing approval of the speaker's remarks were frequent, and many shook hands with him at the close of his address. He was introduced by J. O. Rouse of Vernon.

Exhibits Articles

Mr. Blanton exhibited a suit case from which he took various articles ranging from a set of poker chips and a whiskey flask to an expensive carving set and a beautiful ostrich hide lady's hand bag.

"These are a few of the things that you tax payers are supplying Congressmen at Washington," he said, "which are being paid out of the public treasury through the subterfuge of a stationery account. Tell me, please, what business has a Congressman with implements like these," and the speaker exhibited a silver plated carving set.

"How can your Congressmen conscientiously conduct an investigation and successfully prosecute a graft case like the shipping board scandal when they themselves are engaged in a like enterprise on a smaller scale."

Scores Barber Shop

"The House barber shop and the expense of operating it is another item that the already tax burdened people are required to bear. Expensive electrical fixtures, negro manicurists, negro body rubbers and numerous other personal expense of Congressmen are borne by the taxpayers of this country.

"If I desired to impose upon the American people by having them pay a manicurist to dress my fingers, I would employ a white girl instead of sitting across the table from a mulatto negro like some of your congressmen are doing."

White Girls Under Negroes

"Do you people know that in many departments of your government, where dozens of white girls work, a negro is placed at its head? In many cases lady stenographers are required to take dictation from these mulatto negroes. I am opposed to this sort of thing and will continue to make a fight against it as long as I am a congressman."

"You people probably don't know that it has been the practice of this government for fifty years to give Congressmen every Christmas, one each of three pieces of household furniture—a cedar chest, an oak chest and a pine chest.

"Uncle Joe Cannon has been in Congress for forty years and has been presented by the taxpayers of this country through their government, forty cedar chests, forty oak chests and forty pine chests. Now, what do you think of that?"

Tried To Discredit Sister

"They deliberately undertook to injure the candidacy of my sister in this Congressional district by trying to disgrace me on the floor of the House.

"I'll tell you how they tried to do it. On January 12, I made a speech before the House against this petty graft that I have been telling you about. On April 4, nearly four months afterwards, your State Superintendent of Public Instruction announced for Congress from this district, and on the very next day that 'ring' at Washington singled out John Garner, one of your Texas Congressmen, to give me the third degree on the floor of the House for having made this speech. Tell me if you can, why did it take that bunch nearly four months to get mad at me because of my speech on January 12? Oh, they would resort

OUSLEY BELIEVES RESERVE SYSTEM WORKS HARDSHIP

Candidate Would Revise Method Of Lending To Meet Needs Of Farmers And Stockmen—Deplores Forced Collections On Short Term Notes—Says Tariff Must Protect All Alike.

Declaring the Federal reserve system in need of immediate revision, and attributing a large part of the past financial depression to the workings of this banking method, Clarence Ousley, candidate for the United States Senate, addressed a body of Wilbarger county voters Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the district court room. P. McGee introduced the speaker.

Mr. Ousley deplored the action of the Federal banks in forcing member banks of the system to collect from patrons without regard to the respective circumstances governing the individual loans. As an example of the hardships thus imposed he cited the fact that the packer can turn his raw products into finished material and market them in thirty days. The manufacturer requires ninety days to realize on his investment.

Farmer's Case Differs

The farmer, however, said the speaker, needs twelve months to plant, grow and market his products, and the cattle breeder requires three years. Markets of the world, he declared, are ruined through the banks holding no other regard for their customers other than that of collecting money due.

Mr. Ousley dealt with the tariff question vigorously. He charged the government with conferring favors on a few rather than the whole by placing some raw materials on the free list.

"When a hat is taxed," said the candidate, "the manufacturer in this country takes advantage of the situation to compete with the imported article. Weqf, however, was placed on the free list, causing the grower of this country to compete without protection. We must have a tariff that will protect everything alike, and the revenue from which will benefit all alike."

Opposes Price Fixing

The speaker discussed the decline in price of cotton seed. He attributed it in large part to the placing on the free list of olive oils from Asia after the close of the war.

Mr. Ousley opposed the proposal he said was made by Earle Mayfield, also a candidate for the Senate, to permit the Federal government to place the price of farm products as was done on wheat during the war. In his argument he pointed out that this act of Congress cost the farmers of Texas from thirty-two to sixty-two cents a bushel.

The price, he said, was fixed to accommodate the consumer rather than the producer. It permitted only enough margin to keep the wheat farmer in the business of raising his product.

Court Must Alter Views

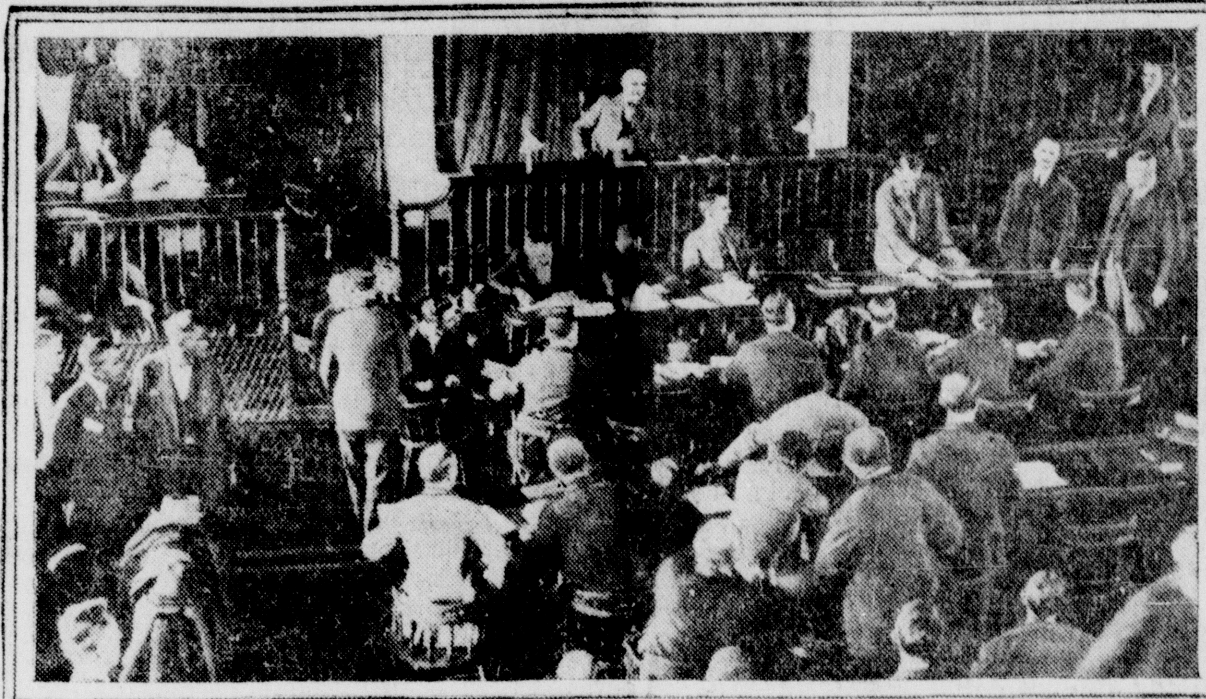

The candidate briefly discussed the railroad situation and showed where state commissions are powerless to alter rates since roads are guaranteed a profit at all times. He expressed as the only remedy a change of views by courts of the land in order to force the Interstate Commerce Commission to conform to intrastate rates in rendering its decisions.

In respect to immigration Mr. Ousley declared that the percentage of immigrants to this country is fixed by law, and no candidate can promise a change in methods for at least two years. In refuting the charge that he does not stand for liquor prohibition, Mr. Ousley declared that Congress has been unable to alter the decision of the Supreme Court on this issue, and that no single member could effect any change whatever.

Owens Two Tailed Cat

Joe French of Thalia is reported to possess a two tailed cat on his farm. The animal has a tail growing out of its forehead. The curiosity has been inspected as a side show attraction.

SECOND COOKING SCHOOL FOR VERNON MAY 29, 30 AND 31

Event For Benefit Of County Women To Be Staged Through Four Agencies—Expert To Assist Home Demonstration Agent—Club Leaders Sanction Enterprise.

A cooking school, similar to the one staged last year by the Chamber of Commerce, the home demonstration agent, Federation of Clubs and The Vernon Record, will be presented again by these agencies May 29, 30 and 31. Mrs. Robert Lancaster of College Station, formerly State Demonstration Agent of Colorado, will assist Miss Eula Goodfellow, Wilbarger county agent, in the work. The place for meetings will be announced at a later date.

Three afternoon sessions will be conducted. Specimens of cookery submitted by county women on May 31 or June 1 will be judged on the latter date and prizes awarded.

Varied Demonstrations

There will be demonstrations in salads, fancy pack canning of both vegetables and fruits, milk dishes, emergency cookery (what to cook when unexpected guests arrive), vegetable cooking, and yeast and quick breads. Quick breads include cakes, biscuits, and cookies.

The place for the school, those in charge state, must be a well lighted building with sufficient seating capacity for the large attendance expected. Last year, in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium in the basement of the library building, the room was found insufficient to accommodate the scores of women who attended the school. A stage upon which to hold the demonstration is also planned by the management of the school.

Sanction Enterprise

Mrs. W. H. Huggins, past president of Women's Federated Clubs, when asked for her opinion of another cooking school for Vernon said: "I think they are wonderful. I am very enthusiastic about the subject. I was hoping one would be held this year and that I might be able to attend."

Mrs. J. A. Birdsong, president of the Home Economics club, says, "I have never attended a cooking school but have always wanted to do so. I am glad that the opportunity is about to present itself. I am sure that all the members of the Home Economics Club will be in favor of it for our work is along those lines."

Mrs. Watts Favors

Mrs. Rena W. Watts, president of the W. C. T. U. remarked, "I am very much in favor of it. I think especially the younger generation should learn to cook. I expect to attend this

THOUSANDS MAKE GALA OCCASION OF DOANS MAY PICNIC

Clear Skies Favor Annual Event And Crowd Finds Ample Entertainment—Noted Speakers On Program—Kirby Asks Support For High Protective Tariff.

Blue skies, warm sunshine, a shady grove, the music of a good band, the cries of cold drink and confection vendors, table cloths spread on the ground and heaped high with miniature mountains of good things to eat—all these provided a setting Saturday for the thirty-ninth annual Doans picnic in the Watts pasture eighteen miles north of Vernon. Nearly 2,500 persons thronged the beautiful grove where the event was staged, coming by automobile, wagon, horseback and afoot for miles in every direction.

Featuring the occasion were speeches, most of them of a political nature, from county, district, and national candidates for office. Among distinguished visitors were John H. Kirby of Houston, lumber king and president of the Southern Tariff Association, and Clarence Ousley, candidate for the United States Senate. The crowd stood or lounged in automobiles around the platform, and listened attentively for an hour in the morning and for three in the afternoon.

Ousley Opens Program

Clarence Ousley, Senatorial candidate, opened the day's program when he ascended the steps to the stage at 11 o'clock in the morning. There was a short prelude from Goetz's band before the speaking commenced.

Mr. Ousley opened his address with a discussion of needed government reform, stating at the outset that the United States is making a grave mistake through its refusal to attend the Genoa conference. The latter meeting, he asserted, will offer valuable ground upon which to stabilize currency, thereby eliminating the discrepancy in foreign exchange.

Criticizes Banking System

"Our banking system, too," said the candidate, "has its limitations. The Federal Reserve Banks jammed the brakes on last year by enforcing collection when the biggest crop in our history had been gathered. Farmers were allowed sixty to ninety days on their notes when it required a year to market their product. It is not the fault of the system, but of the head of the system.

"There is entirely too much regard for the manufacturers and business men in the Federal Reserve System. The War Finance Corporation I regard as one of the greatest agencies making for a systematic marketing of crops, and we should make it a permanent body. We must realize that

HOME WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED SUNDAY

MISS HELEN HIATT BECOMES
BRIDE OF EUGENE BERRY
OF WICHITA FALLS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Sunday night when Miss Helen Hiatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hiatt, became the bride of Eugene Berry of Wichita Falls, at her home on W. Texas street.

Promptly at the hour appointed, 7:30, Edwin Lisman sang "Because." To the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal march played by Miss Vera Harrington, the bride and her maid of honor, Miss Geraldine Parker, started down the stairway. They were met at the improvised altar in the parlor by Mr. Berry and his best man, Herbert Brown of Wichita Falls. The impressive ring ceremony was read by Dr. E. L. Moore of the Presbyterian church.

The bride was attired in a beautiful creation of periwinkle tulle and lace. She wore dainty silver slippers and carried an arm bouquet of bridal roses. Miss Parker wore a beaded canna cation crepe and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. After congratulations were over, guests were served an ice course.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry left over the Frisco for Oklahoma City soon after the ceremony. They will be at home after May 20 at their residence on Huff Avenue, Wichita Falls.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Clyde Smith of Amarillo, sister of the bride; L. Berry of Wichita Falls, brother of Mr. Berry, and Laurence Nolan of Wichita Falls.

OBSERVE DIAMOND JUBILEE

Lutheran Churches of County To Hold Joint Meeting To Celebrate Founding

St. Paul Lutherans and Zions, both churches embracing the Lutheran faith in Wilbarger county, will hold a joint meeting at the Zion church thirteen miles south of town, beginning next Sunday, May 14 as a means of celebrating the diamond jubilee of their faith. The meeting will last through June 2, according to Rev. L. Hehemeier, one of the pastors.

Today the church embraces over a million souls, including 2,500 pastors with congregations over the United States, in Canada, Brazil, Argentina and England.

Plain preaching and extensive institutional work has carried the Lutheran gospel into forty-seven states and twelve foreign countries. The Missouri synod maintains a system of parish schools.

Care Of Chicks

Now is the time when beginners and those who are not successful are glad to have advice regarding the rearing of chicks. Here are some suggestions from the Extension Department of Cornell University, Ithaca, New York:

"Chicks ready and waiting when the next meal comes along are the ones it pays to raise. Skim milk is considered so important that it is not safe to leave it to each chick to get its supply. Many poultrymen dip the beak of each chick into milk soon after it comes from the incubator, and others give the chicks nothing but milk to drink. They need no water so long as they have plenty of milk. A suitable grain mixture is fed with bran and grit in the trough the first day and afterwards the grain is scattered in the litter. Chicks must not be overfed, but always be 'up and coming' for the next meal.

"Their health must be promoted by exercise. They must have fine grit and charcoal from the start; the water must be fresh and clean; they must be made gradually; they must have a grass range or plenty of green food; the chicks ought to get outdoors as soon as possible. If the chicks fill up on mash and do not scratch for the grain, remove the mash part of the time.

"Feed moist mash sparingly. Give them only high-grade, wholesome feed."

Culling Males For Egg Production

How is the best way to cull males for egg production?

Answer: Cull them according to the Hogan method which you will find fully described in the book entitled, "Call of the Hen." This book is copyrighted and is for sale by the American School of Poultry Husbandry, Kansas City, Mo. The price is $2.00. This describes the culling of females as well as males and you will find it to be worth more to you than any other two dollars you ever invested in the poultry business.

Incubating Turkey Eggs

Can turkey eggs be successfully incubated? I am told that those hatched in incubators will die.

Answer: Turkey eggs can be successfully incubated artificially but it is advisable wherever possible to set them under the turkey hen or chicken. The poult should be given to turkey mothers as it is almost impossible to raise them to maturity when given to the chicken hen to brood. We generally tried to hatch them under hens and give the poult to turkey hens to raise. This is easily done by putting a poult under a turkey hen which is brooding. Give her the poult in her nest over night and the next day she will take the poult willingly. She should be confined in a roomy brood pen for several days and the first day the poult should be put in with her; after this for several days they can have the run of a small pen in front of the coop and after a week old may be given their liberty with the mother turkey hen.

On the last day of March Bourland & Sharp of Vernon had thirty-seven big type Poland China pigs and eight more sows to farrow. Laddy Boy, sired by The Ranger, is coming fine. He is a spring yearling and weighs around 500 pounds. He is siring some good pigs.

C. L. Moore of Oklaunion has a litter of fourteen pigs from a sow he purchased in S. E. Lewis' sale. He writes that he has been offered $100 for one of his male pigs. Mr. Moore has the nucleus for a fine herd of big type Poles.

J. W. King, who lives five miles west of Childress, claims to own the most productive sow in Texas, according to the Childress Index. Within the last year and six days the sow has farrowed three times, the first two litters having fifteen pigs. The last litter contained sixteen pigs. This makes a total of forty-six pigs in just six days more than a year.

Mr. King says the sow is pure bred and that the pigs have been strong ones. A sow of that kind is worth twenty acres of cotton any year. The sow is of the Duroc Jersey breed. When Childress county farmers realize that fact just that soon will they become independent.

Soft Shelled Eggs

We have about 130 White Wyandotte and Buff Orpington pullets and they are laying well but so many of the eggs are soft shelled. We have given them all the oyster shell they will eat from the hoppers. Is lump lime better than the oyster shells?

Answer: Oyster shells are the thing that is usually given to hens to form the lime for the shells and they are better than lime as they also help in digesting the food in the gizzard. They are not the best of grit as they are too easily assimilated. Your pullets, are, more than likely, too fat. As the laying season progresses and green food becomes more plentiful, the eggs shells will become harder. You should have an oat sprouter and feed them the green oats and they will show an improvement in the quality of the eggs and they will hatch better and produce stronger chicks.

Thin egg shells sometimes result from the fact that individual birds either will not eat enough oyster shell to furnish the necessary amount of lime or are not able to assimilate it properly. In such cases try bone meal which may be added at the rate of 2 to 5 per cent.

hits but were unable to score. In the fifth inning three men were on bases without a resulting tally.

Vernon will meet Quanah again Friday on the latter's grounds. A game with Wichita Falls had been scheduled for that date, but an injury to Baird's arm late in the game last Friday has caused that contest to be canceled. Brantlett or Parr will probably pitch the coming Friday.

one as I did the one held last year.

Mrs. Emory Rhoads, president of the Home Science Club says, "I think it is a splendid idea. They did good work last year and I am sure the same success will attend a cooking school this year. The women seemed so interested. I myself attended every meeting that I possibly could."

Is Helpful Course

Mrs. J. L. Swartwood and Miss Esther Swartwood think the school an excellent idea. Both attended the school last year and enjoyed the sessions. Miss Swartwood, a former student at the College of Industrial Arts, says "The course is along the identical lines given by the school at Denton. It is so helpful to any one who wants to learn the right way to cook."

Mrs. F. M. Kemp, president of the City and County Federation of Clubs who attended the meetings last year, is very much in favor of the plan. "I think it is of great benefit to all women who attend. I would like to see them add to the cooking school a lecture on interior decoration as well as the art of cooking. I shall do all I can to further the work."

To the Ladies and Gentlemen of The 13th Congressional District

The time is rapidly growing just, unfair and unreasonable shorter and the 13th of May, criticism. An honest man will 1922, will be upon us in a very be as careful not to take the short time. We, who are interested in the election of Senator Williams, beg to call your attention to the high plane upon which he pitched his campaign and upon which it has been maintained. He determined at the very outset of his campaign, to run the race upon his merits.

The speakers who oppose Senator Williams and who speak to you in person as fast as possible, and speak to you from the political platform wherever and whenever it was possible, and he has steadfastly adhered to it. He has not indulged in personal flings at his opponents at any time or place or to any one. He has not concerned himself about the reputations or political standings of any one of the other candidates. He did not think that the most profitable way of campaigning, and his experience and observations of late years has taught him that the candidate who indulges in personal or even political, unjust criticism of his opponent does not attract the attention or win the approval of thinking men and women who are called upon to elect one to a public office.

They want to hear who the speaker is, and for what he stands, and how he proposes to solve or help solve.

They prefer to judge for themselves of a man's fitness for the office he aspires to, rather than to be told of his unfitness by his opponents and their advocates. They prefer to measure him or her by their standard of virtues and qualifications, rather than that of those who are interested in his defeat. That thinking men and women will entertain and listen to an unbiased, unprejudiced one in giving the history of a man, rather than a biased, selfish and exaggerated array of supposed defects in the character and fitness or record of a man, spoken or written for the purpose of prejudicing the hearers or readers against the victim of their exploit. The world loves a brave, honest, true man. A brave man will not backbite or even in the presence of the opponent, indulge in un-

What economic procedure he will employ if he is elected. They content themselves with personal criticism of Senator Williams, and in every instance where a charge has been made, we have shown it unjust, untrue and made only to prejudice the minds of the people.

They have even made fun of him, attempting by ridiculing him, to prejudice you against him. Every man who reads this will know it is so, for they have heard it themselves from the speakers.

Now we appeal to all fair-minded men and women, voters in this district to lay the straight edge of truth and justice up against all the candidates. See them for yourself, hear them for yourself. It won't take you a minute after hearing a man to ascertain whether he is prejudiced or not, and if he is, we ask you does he challenge your admiration, respect and provoke you to listen to him like a con-servative, unbiased man who tells of virtue instead of vice, of perfection instead of defect.

With confidence in the calm, cool, unbiased judgement of the people, we again present to you and ask that you support Senator Williams for Congress.

on agriculture depends the prosperity of all other interests.

Thinks Tariff Faulty

"Under the present system of tariff our government is protecting the manufacturing class at the expense of the people. There is no warrant for a tariff for revenue purposes only. Why should we have a tariff on refined vegetable oils and not on the raw product? Why a tariff on woolen goods and not on wool?"

"Other candidates are trying to tell you that a tariff on farm products is a delusion. They tell you that when a tariff was placed on wheat the price declined, they do not say that when it was placed on oil, the price of cotton seed went up."

"There is no warrant in giving the railroads a preferential profit," said the speaker in discussing this issue. "They expect to make a profit on every transaction, when we know that no merchant is able to effect such an end. The latter is forced frequently to put on bargains at a sacrifice and content himself with an average profit; why should the railroads not be required to do likewise?"

Kirby On Tariff

Mr. Onley was well received by those attending the picnic. At the conclusion of his address, which lasted fifty-five minutes, dinner was served and immediately afterwards the program was resumed. Speakers throughout the day were introduced by C. F. Doan, founder of the picnic, and his daughter, Mrs. Bertha Ross.

John H. Kirby, of Houston, president of the Kirby Lumber Co. and a tariff authority of note, opened the afternoon program. He explained the need for a Southern Tariff Association, and pointed out its benefits to the farmers. Mr. Kirby's address was devoted to the need of a high protective tariff.

"An import levy does not affect my business," he said in opening "for we have an exportable surplus of lumber. Our farmers, though, are entirely unable to compete with those countries where products are raised far below the cost for which they can be produced here."

Egg Industry Threatened

"Our egg and poultry industry amounts to one billion, seven hundred and fifty million dollars a year but it is not protected. Do you know that Chinese eggs can be delivered for twelve cents a dozen in Dallas, Texas, and that there is a corresponding rate on poultry? A continuance of such a course can only mean that American farmers will be unable to compete against the Asiatics, and that a profitable source of family income will be curtailed."

"The wool raiser today has no market through the huge importations from other lands. Such conditions helped to call the Southern Tariff Association into being. It is composed ninety-five per cent of Democrats, and one of its aims is to take the tariff out of politics."

"The earning capacity of the people of North Carolina is greater per capita than in Texas. Why? Every North Carolinian product is on the duty list, while ours are included in the free classification. I tell you, the farmers have a vital interest in our association."

Reviews Attitude

Mr. Kirby reviewed the Democratic conception of a tariff, and the events which led up to the Underwood Tariff Act of 1912. The European war, he said, made such a demand upon our products that we found no need for a tariff at that time. History reveals, he pointed out, that at no time has this country prospered under a low tariff.

The speaker gave an interesting review of the attitude of great American statesmen upon the tariff, and declared that eventually all became protectionists. He reviewed the attitude of the early states and their leaders, and declared that all noted free traders had eventually realized the need of protection.

What the South needs said Mr. Kirby in closing, is business sense and political leadership. He urged his audience to aid the Southern Tariff Association in bringing about an equal opportunity for all, and abolishing free trade.

Offers Plea For Hospital

Dr. J. E. Dodson, Vernon physician, followed Mr. Kirby with a plea for a general county hospital. He emphasized the need of adequate caring for patients without means of insuring suitable medical treatment, and explained the system under which such a dispensary could be managed. The success of the Wichita general hospital was also outlined by the local physician.

Rev. E. L. Moore, Presbyterian minister, likewise spoke in favor of the proposed hospital, and declared that it would be a disgrace for Wilbarger county to fail to provide means of caring for emergency medical cases. He chairman of the Wilbarger County Welfare fare Association, said the speaker, he has come personally into touch with dozens of lamentable cases that could be attended to under some general system of providing treatment. The ideal of Jesus Christ, said the minister, is the church with a hospital on one side and a school on the other.

Williams Takes Platform

Guinn Williams of Decatur, candidate for Congress, resumed the political discussions of the afternoon. Mr. Williams reviewed at length the issues discussed here in an earlier address, and asserted that he is a plain business man striving for office in order that he may aid in incalculable business principles into our government. The tariff, immigration, Federal Reserve System, tax free securities, and need of economy in administration of affairs were given due consideration by the candidate.

Mr. Williams vigorously defended his record in the State Legislature, and gave his reasons for support or non-support of certain measures. He gave a brief review of his life, and referred frequently to his friends for references.

Champions S. A. L. Morgan

Joe B. Hatchett of Wichita Falls, an attorney, took up the gauntlet in behalf of S. A. L. Morgan, opposing Mr. Williams in the Congressional race. Mr. Hatchett dealt in the main with his personal views on questions of the day and offered a vigorous defense of the Democratic party and its principles. He denounced John H. Kirby, Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, and Senator Tom Watson of Georgia as traitors to their party. Mr. Hatchett accused Mr. Kirby of favoring a bill which would provide a bonus to the wheat mills of the country.

Those who own mill stock are opposed to S. A. L. Morgan, asserted the speaker, because he will not acknowledge such a measure nor will he "kowtow" to the rich. He also criticized Guinn Williams for favoring a tariff for revenue, asserting that through such an agency a hardship is being worked on the people of the nation.

Mr. Hatchett landed the stand of Morgan on the soldier bonus bill, stating that he, Hatchett, had served through the war at considerable financial loss but expected no remuneration. He outlined the career of his candidate, and staunchly defended his views on important issues of the day. Orville Bullington, also a candidate, for Congress, was accused by the speaker of being in the race to get Morgan votes, and was characterized as a "son-in-law to a flour mill."

Announce For Office

Candidates for district and county offices announced as a wind up to the day's speaking program. M. M. Hawkins of Quanah, seeking the district judgeship, was the first of these and was followed by Robert Cole of Crowell, W. C. Martin of Memphis, speaking in behalf of James V. Leak, his law partner, and O. T. Warlick, all seekers of the same office.

A. C. Nicholson of Vernon was the only candidate announcing for district attorney. He was followed by N. P. Whiteside of Tolbert, announcing for county tax collector, C. A. Richie announcing for district clerk, Arthur Ivy, announcing for county treasurer, John A. Storey announcing for reelection as county attorney, O. O. McCurdy announcing for the same office, and J. S. Archer announcing for the office of county commissioner from precinct number three.

Following the speaking program C. F. Doan, chairman of the occasion, expressed his appreciation of the attendance and gave a brief review of the history of the picnic.

E. L. WITTYDEPORT THESE ALIENSDeportation of aliens who persist in violating the prohibition law as one effective way to curb those who ignore the dry act is being recommended by officials of the prohibition enforcement department. The House Immigration Committee has learned that eighty per cent of the Volstead Act violators are aliens.Examination of the court lists in almost any community, officials point out, will convince anyone that this estimate is not exaggerated. Especially is this true in the matter of conducting illicit stills. The product of "moonshine" stills in the South is not a drop in the bucket in comparison with the output of alien operated stills
in the large industrial centers.These aliens have forfeited all claims to protection of this government, and should be sent back to their own countries if they will not obey the laws. Aliens have been refused citizenship because they had been convicted of violations of the laws, and if they are not eligible to become citizens, they are hardly desirable residents of the United States.Because a man sits with his feet on a desk is not necessarily an indication of prosperity. He may have the door locked to keep the sheriff out.A western preacher is going to open a well lighted church parlor to counters. It will be about as popular as the store that doesn't advertise.A SPIRIT REJUVENATORAnyone who attended the Doans picnic Saturday can scarcely refrain from wishing that such an occasion
might come at more frequent intervals than just once a year. With less favorable conditions than prevailed last week-end, of course, there might not be found the same exhilaration in the event, but a meeting pervaded by a spirit such as that which brought thousands together Saturday is ever a factor contributing toward the common good.There were speeches for those who found their interest centered in affairs of government; there were ball games for those athletically inclined; a mighty array of pink lemonade in tall,
curiously formed containers, soda pop,
and the usual assortment of confectioneries rejuvenated the tastes of young and old; those in high glee and those tinged with cynicism, were appealed to
by quantities of good things to eat
such as only country folk are gifted to sponsor.A common bond of fellowship at such gatherings is felt by even the most calloused. There is a easing aside of the barriers of restraint, the formalities of average daily existence,
and a reveling in the delights of nature,
both outdoor and human, that comes with distinct refreshment to the public mind.Somehow the rest of the country never becomes worked up with sympathy
when reading newspaper stories telling how New Yorkers have been swindled just like ordinary rubes.CLUBS AND LODGES*Is Hostess To Home Science ClubMrs. W. O. Powell will be hostess

FOR SPIRIT WORLD FOLKSChicago, May 7.—Men work, get they reach the spirit world.Such was the announcement by Mrs.

Maggie Waite, a spiritualist of twenty-three years' experience, who addressed the State Spiritualists' Association
here."The disembodied spirit is kept busy at a number of things," she said. "Occupation is found for every soul and there is not much time for playing golden harps."Matrimonial tangles are solved in a way that is more satisfactory than they are some times here, she said.The man who has three or four wives here is joined to one who is his spiritual mate there."Husbands and wives are joined there if they are spiritual mates," she said."What about a man who has two or three wives on earth?" she was asked."I knew you would ask that," she replied. "Well, the wife who was his spiritual mate on earth becomes his spiritual bride. The others exist in a sort of sisterly affection."If you have never met your own true sweetheart on earth, no matter how many you have married, you will meet her there.Food and raiment do not bother the spirits. They generally appear in the new land in a replica of the clothes they last wore on earth. And as for food, the mere aroma of earthly food is sufficient to satisfy them.Mrs. Waite said Conan Doyle was correct when he said the soul or ethic body is attached to the body by a silver cord."I have seen the silver cord myself," she said. "It is about the size of No. 6 cotton thread. When the soul parts from the body the silver cord is severed, but it is possible for the soul to roam at will connected with the mortal shell by this thin strand.""Once the spirit of living man came the thread around it, rather tangled.

I was conducting a meeting at the spirit. "I am living and must hasten back to New Zealand. I came here because my lost brother is in the audience. There he is sitting over there.

Tell him to write me. I was dozing by my fire when I came here." Then the spirit disappeared.

Spirits like to joke, she said.

"That explains some of the amazing

of King Philip of Pokanoket, chief of the Wampanoags. When he was killed the colonists treated his body as though it were the carcass of a wild beast.
They beheaded and quartered him.
They exhibited the head on a gibbet at Plymouth for 20 years and they nailed the quarters on trees. One of his hands, mutilated by a bursting pistol, was given to Alderman, his slayer.King Philip (Metacombet) was the second son of friendly old Massasoit
but he had no love for the white men.
He saw that unless their expansion
was stopped his own race was doomed.
So he began uniting the tribes of New England against them. The colonists suspected that he was preparing for war but he succeeded in deceiving them until June, 1675, when his warriors,
contrary to his orders, attacked Swansea, Mass. Concealment being no longer possible, Philip plunged into the conflict with savage fury. The next three months his warriors and their allies, the Narragansetts, destroyed 12 of the 90 towns in New England.The "Terror of New England" reached the peak of his career at the Battle of Bloody Brook near Deerfield where he killed 90 colonists. After that the star of the Wampanoag began to wane. Wetamoo, his sister-in-law, the "Saw Sachem of Pocasset," who had led 300 warriors into the field to aid Philip, was killed by the colonists who cut off her head and set it up on a pole at Taunton, Mass. Then the chief's wife and son were captured and sold into slavery in the West Indies. "My heart breaks now. I am ready to die," said the great chief.By now he, with only a few faithful followers, was fleeing from place to place like a hunted wild animal. One of his warriors suggested surrender and Philip instantly killed him with one blow of his tomahawk. Alderman, the slain warrior's brother, immediately deserted to the English and offered to lead Captain Church to Philip's hiding place.On August 12, 1676, the English surrounded the swamp where the Wampanoag had taken refuge. As they closed in they sighted their quarry speeding along a path, one of the few avenues of escape from the swamp.
Suddenly Alderman rose up before the fleeing chief. He fired and King Philip fell with two wounds in his breast.
Alderman's gun had been double charged—one bullet for his brother and one for himself!Battery Troubles OverAny wet battery changed to dry bat-

WHAT SHALL I

tracted for a number of excellent recipes which it can conscientiously recommend for the use of its

is the hope of The Record that these recipes will serve to add in solving the perplexing question, "What shall annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to a decision reached by the local Chamber directors Monday. A delegation of twenty-five or thirty business men will go from here to Plainview May 22 and 23 for the purpose of extending an invitation for the next meeting to the 5,000 delegates who will be in that city.Reconsideration of the decision not to ask for the next convention was made by local directors yesterday because of sentiment favorable to such a meeting here on the part of various towns on the Denver railroad. Vernon is regarded as the logical center

residents because of its accessibility.Will Bring MoneyDirectors point out that such a convention for this city would mean the spending of from $50,000 to $100,000

spendings of those visiting in Vernon are placed at a minimum of ten dol-

thought, would profit materially

W. S. MOORE

OF GAINESVILLE, COOKE COUNTY, WITH-
DRAWS FROM THE CONGRESSIONAL RACE
FOR UNEXPIRED TERM.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 13TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

When I announced my candidacy for the unexpired term in Congress I had no thought of making the race for the Democratic nomination in July. I thought it unfair, improper and ungenerous for any candidate to seek two offices at the same time. I assumed that the candidates for the Democratic nomination would not ask for the unexpired term. After my announcement two of the candidates asking for the Democratic nomination announced for the unexpired term. These candidates had been making a campaign for months in the district and still another candidate announced for both places.

Meantime I have been strongly solicited from all parts of the district to seek the Democratic nomination in July. I feel that the candidate elected to fill the unexpired term ought not to use the peoples' time and their money and remain in race for the Democratic nomination, but should go to Washington and go to work or else surrender the office. I have not had time to make a campaign in the district for the unexpired term to offset the long and expensive campaign made by some of the other candidates, and important legal business has still further prevented it and the excessive rains have still further interfered. I have been able to devote only five days to the campaign. It has thus been made an unequal contest, and since I have decided to seek the Democratic nomination in July and on account of the other considerations above mentioned, I have decided to withdraw from the race for the unexpired term, but in doing so I wish to thank my friends throughout the district for the very generous support they have given me during the short time I have been in the race, and also for the assurances that they have given me in the contest for the Democratic nomination.

The interest of the people of the district is of first importance. In justice to the people and in fairness to myself and with a just regard for the interests of all concerned, and with a feeling of kindness toward the other candidates, I withdraw from the race for the unexpired term. In due time announcement of my candidacy for the Democratic nomination will be made.

Respectfully,

Gainesville, Texas, May 8, 1922.

BLANTON SCORES "PETTY CRAFT" IN NATION'S CONGRESS

anything in order to get rid of me, am not campaigning in this district for my sister, Annie Webb Blanton. She doesn't want me to speak here. She is able to take care of herself, and I am only mentioning her name in order to show you people what methods those politicians at Washington will resort to in an effort to combat the fight I am making for government.

Thinks Congressmen Honest

I do not want to convey the impression that I believe that I am the only honest man in Congress. There are many clean, upright and honorable men in the House. In fact, most of them are high minded and conscientious men.

These practices I have been telling about have existed for years and have built a political ring has developed which no Congressman save myself has been fit to oppose."

Blanton told of many hardships which had engaged his strength in testing his courage. He told of a successful fight against the bill providing a raise in salary of $5,000 annually for Congressmen and averred that it was one of the greatest temptations of his life to support the measure.

NEW MISSIONARY IN FIELD

R. B. Cox Of Wortham Will Serve Witharger-Boord Baptist Association

R. B. Cox, newly elected missionary of the Witharger-Boord Baptist Association, assumed his duties May 5 and has already visited many communities in the county. Mr. Cox, who is from Wortham, will fill pulpits in various churches in his district, and will devote a large share of his attention to those congregations without pastors. Following is his statement to those in the Association:

"As newly elected missionary of the Witharger-Boord Association, I began work Friday, May 5. As some of you know it is somewhat difficult for a new man to get started in a new field. But in this case it has been very pleasant. A few hours after I arrived in Vernon on the early Denver train, Moderator J. A. Gilliland introduced me to your good enlistment man for this district, George J. Mason. He at once took me in charge, as I was glad to surrender. That afternoon we made a fifty mile drive and visited the communities of Rayland and Thalia and discussed some plans for the future with Rev. Frank McNair of Thalia.

"Saturday afternoon we made a visit to the communities of Bethel, Guyer and Harrold, and made appointments for the missionary for Sunday. Brother Mason preached in the Prairie View church Sunday morning and came back to be with me at Guyer and Bethel in the afternoon and night. My services were good Sunday, except we were a little disturbed by the cloud at Bethel Sunday night. Rev. W. T. Rouse started a revival at Harrold Sunday night. I make the request that the whole association pray for that meeting. I also ask that all shall pray for the weak and pastorless churches of our Association. As your missionary, I crave to do the best possible work for you and the Lord, and I cannot unless I have the advice, co-operation and prayers of every pastor, layman and woman in the Association. Let us join hands and hearts for a big hard task, but a glorious one, of soul winning and enlistment for this summer.

CITY ENLARGES WATER CAPACITY TO MEET SUMMER DEMANDS

Two new wells dug at the city pump station, and the re-boring and cleaning out of two already existing, has resulted in a material increase of Vernon's water supply, according to the city engineer. The new wells are about forty feet deep.

Preparations are being made to care for the usual excessive demand existing every summer. A new discharge line, increasing the flow from the pumps, has been installed, and a six inch line has been replaced with a ten inch pipe.

MANY CANDIDATES SPEAK IN CLAY COUNTY

Henrietta, May 7.—Much political activities and speakings have prevailed in Henrietta during the past week. Thursday night Hon. Orville Bullington, independent candidate for Congress, spoke to a fair sized audience at the courthouse. Judge Bullington's speech was confined principally to a discussion of the tariff problems. His speech was well received.

On Friday night, the Hon. S. A. L. Morgan had a rally at the court house which was packed to its capacity. Others who spoke besides Mr. Morgan were M. W. Buren of Decatur and Judge A. H. Carrigan. Judge Carrigan is well known and has many friends here.

Morgan Cheered

Mr. Morgan spoke vigorously and elicited round after round of applause as he discussed the issues of the day and the positions assumed by other candidates.

At the conclusion of his speech large numbers of people crowded around him and pledged their support.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY FAILS

Crow Sisters' Establishment Entered Sunday Night But Bolt Halted Invaders

Burglars attempted robbery of the Crow Sisters' ladies furnishing store on N. Main street Sunday night by cutting screens on the two back windows. The invaders succeeded in making their way into the wash room but a bolt on the door leading from this room into the main display room could not be forced. A screen on another window, which is in the west part of the store, was found Monday morning also cut, but the glass was not broken. It is supposed that one man or men became frightened at the approach of the night watchman.

Mr. Walker, the night watchman, states that he believes the attempted burglary occurred between the hours of eleven and twelve. Passing down the opposite side of the street and directly across from the establishment, he saw a Ford coupe being driven east on West Texas street. Moved by curiosity to know who was abroad at that hour, he watched the car.

It was stopped not far from the main entrance to the store and a man was seen to come from the direction of the

WILLIAMS MAKING RACE ON MERITS

SPEAKER SAYS CANDIDATE IS NOT GLOATING OVER OPPONENTS' SHORTCOMINGS.

Guinn Williams of Decatur, candidate for the United States Congress, is making a race based only on his merits and not the demerits of his opponents. T. J. M. Murray of Henrietta, friend and supporter of the aspirant, told a Wilbarger county audience Saturday night at the court house. Those who ridicule him for his handshaking activities and general affability with the voting citizenry, Mr. Murray said, are to be pitied for their determination to vote against a whole souled man and a "hole fellow well met."

Mr. Murray, who came to Vernon principally to answer charges brought against Mr. Williams, here more than a week ago by Mack Burch of Decatur, was enthusiastically received by his hearers Saturday night. He was introduced by Harry Mason, mayor of Vernon.

Denies Charges
Mr. Murray made a sweeping denial of practically every campaign accusation brought against his favorite in the Congressional race. Mr. Williams' record in the State Senate, his personal characteristics and views were all championed by the visiting speaker.

In answering the attack made upon Mr. Williams' record in the Legislature, Mr. Murray pointed out that the Congressional candidate was instrumental in the passing of an essential penitentiary bill, had always favored woman suffrage in Wise county, and through his efforts in blocking an appropriation bill for the penitentiary, had saved the State more than $300,000. Discussing the action of Mr. Williams in voting in favor of the well known truck bill of last year, the speaker pointed out that a vote in the Senate at the time showed practically unanimous sanction of the measure. Statements in the case, he asserted, are misleading and unfair to Mr. Williams as the latter favored only a tax on commercial and not farming vehicles.

Campaign On Merits
The Williams campaign, said the visitor, is not based on the demerits of any opponent. There is no fight on S. A. L. Morgan nor any of the other candidates. Only four speakers are in the field for the Decatur candidate although, said Mr. Murray, it has been reported that Morgan campaign managers are preparing to put a large number of orators in the field immediately.

In answering the charges of Mack Burch that Mr. Williams bolted the Democratic party during a county election in Wise county in 1916, the speaker declared that Bill Schultz, opponent of Burch for county attorney in the primaries, was not a candidate in the general election. Nine hundred and fifty-six voters, he said, scratched the name of Burch and substituted Schultz to voice their disapproval of the contest through which Burch had gained office. Mr. Williams, said his supporter, opposed the candidacy of Schultz on the Independent ticket, and advised him not to run under the banner of that party.

Was Friend Of Parrish
Mr. Murray denied that Mr. Williams was strongly opposed to Lucian W. Parrish, late Congressman, as charged often by his opponents. The speaker asserted that he, Mr. Murray, was campaign manager for Parrish and that Mr. Williams handled the campaign for Mr. Spencer during the race between these candidates for office.

After the election of Parrish, said Mr. Murray, the Congressman one day accompanied his campaign manager to the Decatur bank belonging to Guinn Williams and congratulated the latter for the clean fight he had made against him. Parrish and Williams were thereafter close personal friends, said the speaker.
